

Federal employees must know they will not face retaliation when disclosing information that protects our national security, safeguards the health of our children, or saves taxpayer dollars.

If Congress is serious about eliminating waste, fraud, and abuse, and ensuring that the government for the people and by the people actually is working in the best interests of the people, then we must protect those who wish to disclose illegal or unethical activities. Whistleblowers should not be restrained because they fear retaliation for doing what is right.

Again, I thank my Senate colleagues for supporting this important measure, and I urge our House counterparts to join with us in strengthening whistleblower protections.

• Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, today I pay tribute to retired Lake County Sheriff's Department police chief Gary Martin for his decades of dedicated service to the people of northwest Indiana and his extraordinary kindness toward the families of fallen Hoosier police officers. It is with a heavy heart and a deep sense of gratitude that I honor the life of Chief Martin, who was killed on August 22 on Indiana 63 when he was struck by an automobile while participating in a charity bike ride to benefit the families of fellow officers who have died in the line of duty. Gary's dedication to the families of our State kept him involved in public service up until his death, doing his part to comfort and support Hoosiers as they confront the loss of a loved one. I know that he will be greatly missed.

Gary was a good and decent man who dedicated his life to serving others. From his work with the sheriff's department to his involvement in the community, his career and retirement were filled with acts of conscientious service on behalf of friends, family members, and Hoosiers across Indiana. The contributions he made touched countless lives, and he will be sorely missed.

Gary was a 25-year veteran of the Gary Police Department, where he attained the rank of assistant chief. He was appointed chief of the Lake County Sheriff's Department in 2002. And for the past three decades, Gary taught criminal justice at Indiana University Northwest. He devoted all of his energy to protecting and serving his community and to caring for his colleagues and their families in their time of need. He is survived by his wife Olga and two children, Greg and Jennifer.

Like all of his colleagues in law enforcement, Chief Martin made daily sacrifices to ensure the safety of our streets, our neighborhoods, and our families. In an increasingly dangerous world, we depend on our brave men and women like Gary to protect us from violence and other threats to our communities.

A lifelong Hoosier, he was also involved in numerous other public safety projects, including working to create a pilot program with Gary schools that sought to assure parents that their children would get to school, attend school, and return home safely. Lake County sheriff Rogelio "Roy" Domiguez recalled Martin's leadership and warmth, saying "Gary was a friend and a mentor to everyone in law enforcement and our entire community. He will be greatly missed by the thousands of students, police officers and others who simply call him 'friend'." It is a rare man who can make such an impact on so many people over the course of one life. Hoosiers will miss Gary as a friend, a community leader, and a tireless public servant.

It is my sad duty to enter the name of Gary Martin in the official RECORD of the U.S. Senate for his service to the State of Indiana.●

HONORING INDIANA STATE POLICE LIEUTENANT GARY DUDLEY

Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, I today pay tribute to Indiana State Police Lieutenant Gary Dudley for his decades of dedicated service to the people of Indiana and his extraordinary kindness toward the families of fallen Hoosier police officers. It is with a heavy heart and a deep sense of gratitude that I honor the life of Lieutenant Dudley, who was killed on August 22 when he was struck by an automobile while participating in a charity bike ride to benefit the families of his fellow officers who have died in the line of duty. Gary's dedication to the families of our State kept him involved in public service up until his death, doing his part to comfort and support Hoosiers as they confront the loss of a loved one. I know he will be greatly missed.

Gary was a good and decent man who dedicated his life to serving others. From his work at the Indiana Law Enforcement Academy to his involvement in the community, his career was filled with acts of conscientious service on behalf of friends, family members, and Hoosiers across Indiana. The contributions he made touched countless lives.

Lieutenant Dudley started his State police career as a trooper in 1979 and was promoted to sergeant in 1991, when he transferred to the training division. He was appointed commander of the Indiana State Police Recruit Academy in 1993. He devoted all of his energy to protecting and serving his community and to caring for his colleagues and their families in their time of need. He is survived by his wife Carolyn, his father Orsel Dudley, and a brother, Danny Dudley.

Like all of his colleagues in law enforcement, Lieutenant Dudley made daily sacrifices to ensure the safety of our streets, our neighborhoods, and our families. In an increasingly dangerous world, we depend on brave men like Gary to protect us from violence and other threats to our communities.

A lifelong Hoosier, he used his passion for cycling to help families of police officers who died in the line of duty. The COPS charity ride, which he started, was in its third year. Long-time friend Sergeant Dave Bursten recalled Dudley's selfless commitment to friends and strangers alike, saying "Gary was very unique, beyond the proverbial 'give you the shirt off his back.' He'd give you his pants, he'd give you his shoes, he'd give you his next to last dollar if you genuinely needed it. He was always there to help people." It is a rare man who can make such an impact on so many people over the course of one life. Hoosiers will miss Gary as a friend, a community leader, and a tireless public servant.

It is my sad duty to enter the name of Gary Dudley in the official RECORD of the U.S. Senate for his service to the State of Indiana.

THIS 45TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

• Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I would like to congratulate The Hospitality and Information Service, THIS, of Washington, DC, on its 45th anniversary. Since 1961 THIS volunteers have welcomed diplomats and their families to Washington, providing friendship, assistance and an understanding of Washington and the United States.

THIS is a nonprofit organization that was established in 1961 at the suggestion of Angie Biddle, then Chief of Protocol, to help the hundreds of newly arrived diplomats and their families adjust to Washington. In 1961 there were 101 Embassies with 1,200 diplomatic families. Today embassies total more than 170 with 4,000 diplomats and families in Washington. THIS' 400 volunteers provide a variety of services and programs to help diplomats and their families learn about Washington through English and seven foreign language conversation groups and a book club. Programs include forums for discussion of issues that are world-wide in scope, such as health, human rights and education. They also conduct programs on government affairs, performing arts, architecture and American history.

THIS plays an important role in welcoming foreign diplomats to Washington and has made a difference in the lives of diplomats from many countries. As just a few have said:

"I would like to thank THIS for the wonderful work that you do and for your warm and friendly attention." Miriam Barak—Israel

"I express both my pleasure and my gratitude to the THIS organization as a whole. THIS is a wonderful vehicle by which the best of America is portrayed. Such an organization can only be an influential force for good." Ann Robinson—Great Britain

"THIS is a fantastic organization. It makes me feel very welcomed and comfortable . . . THIS has given me better understanding of the U.S. life and society and also given me some new good American friends." Ingela Beiming—Sweden

"THIS is a window that opens Washington for us and lets us experience and know it. It opens opportunities to meet different people." Marilia Bulhoes—Brazil

Congratulations to THIS and its volunteers on 45 years of service to the diplomatic community.●

RECOGNIZING BIG BROTHERS BIG SISTERS OF NORTHEAST INDIANA

● Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, today I wish to pay tribute to the remarkable achievement of Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana, which was named "National 2006 Agency of the Year" by Big Brothers Big Sisters of America this summer.

This honor was achieved through the hard work and persistence of the entire staff, board of directors, Bigs, Littles, donors and other stakeholders. Headquartered in Fort Wayne, IN, the agency was established in August 1972 and continues to assist young adolescents who lack guidance and support by creating positive and enduring relationships between youth and adults and by supporting those relationships with appropriate screening, training and supervision. Presently, more than 1,100 area youth participate in Big Brothers Big Sisters programs in 10 Indiana counties and 2 Michigan counties.

Several factors contributed to the agency receiving this year's award. During the past 5 years, it has grown exponentially in many areas, from expanding the region it helps to increasing the length of the matches it provides, which grew by almost 120 percent between 2001 and 2005. The number of participating adult volunteers has increased by 90 percent since 2003, and the time taken to enroll those volunteers has been decreased by 60 days over the course of last 2 years, allowing more Bigs to be matched with more Littles, thereby fulfilling the Big Brothers Big Sisters mission of helping children to reach their potential through professionally supported one-to-one relationships with measurable impact.

In addition to being recognized as the National 2006 Agency of the Year, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana was also a finalist in the categories of Board of the Year and Chief Executive Officer of the Year—the only agency to achieve this distinction. It should also be noted that all of these nominations were in the "Large" category, yet the Fort Wayne agency was considered mid-sized only a few years ago. Since that time, the organization's growth in programs and quality have bolstered it to the top among BBBS agencies in large metropolitan markets.

I have supported Federal funding for agency programs like the Amachi program, which pairs faith-based mentors in one-to-one matches with children of incarcerated parents, as well as its Lunch Buddies program, which pairs elementary school students with caring adult mentors for weekly lunch visits at the children's schools.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeast Indiana makes a visible impact in the lives of Hoosier youths, and it is deserving of the recognition that it has received. I offer my sincere congratulations today and look forward to continuing to support to this exemplary organization in the future.●
